

NW8000 – Advanced Programming

Target Group

This course is designed for those who require an advanced understanding of programming NW8000 equipment.

Prerequisites

To attend this course a basic programming knowledge of NW8000 operations is required.

Description

This course has detailed information on block programming and system setup programming for the NW8000 BAS. Attendees are encouraged to bring their own projects for engineering or may use a project developed for the course.

Representative Topics

- Concept of block Programming
- Block programming to meet specific or general applications
- Network programming between the GCM, LCM, and other NW8000 controllers

Duration of the Course

4.5 Days